Personal Failure 1: The UAR Field

My big contribution to the smooth operation of Debian:
the 'upstream a-hole rating' field for ITPs.

“No point packaging that, James will never let it hit the archive with a UAR of 4.9!”

Personal Failure 2: debconf.org

The www.debconf.org site is obviously “dead”, it hasn't been updated in at least 6 months and most of the pages don't seem to have been updated for over a year.

You'd do us all a service if you took this site down. The next best thing you could do would be to remove the word “upcoming” from all pages on the site. All the site achieves right now is cluttering up people's Google searches. People are searching for “upcoming” events and they get this year-old stuff.

Regards,
Nick
