

Software Freedom

Pragmatic Idealism?

Jonathan Oxer

President, Linux Australia

Linux Users Victoria, Nov 8th 2006

diverse chaotic

confusing

dreamy idealism

“information wants to be freeeee”

economic pragmatism

“it's the best way to get things done”

Australia:

The Clever Country

Australia:

The Clever Country

Really?

2000

Exports $7.7B, Imports $15B

ICT Deficit: $7.3B

2000

Exports $7.7B, Imports $15B

ICT Deficit: $7.3B

2005

Exports $5.3B, Imports $25B

ICT Deficit: $19.7B

who will save us
from ourselves?

We want to create smart innovators

But Australia creates smart well-trained consumers

K-12 ICT education teaches which buttons to click

“We have to teach kids the software
they will encounter
in the workforce”

Baloney

True understanding does not come from rote memorisation of data
with a use-by date.

Open Source

empowers us to understand the how
and the why as well as the what.

supply and demand:
the economics
of scarcity

Local innovation

Local business

Local productivity

Global opportunity

Junta de Extremadura

Junta de Extremadura

Better computer/student ratio than Australia

Converted trade deficit
into a trade surplus

Whole-of-government conversion to FOSS

China

educating their population while learning from others by being a cheap outsourcer

It's Contagious!

- The German judicial system
- Bergen Education Dept
- Munich City Council
- Deutsche Bahn (DB)
- Chinese Federal Govt
- Google
- Yahoo!
- Amazon
- Europcar International
- Credit Suisse First Boston
- Air New Zealand
- Bolzano Education Dept
- Norwegian Education Dept
- City of Bergen
- Korea Post
- Singapore MINDEF
- Allied Irish Bank
- Dept Of Veterans Affairs
- etc, etc, ...

52% of companies are replacing Windows servers with Linux servers.

Source: Forrester Research, January 2005

Local innovation

+

Local business

+

Local productivity

=

Global opportunity

pragmatism

VS

idealism

pragmatism

+

idealism

pragmatism

+

idealism

=

the FOSS community

AUUG

OSIA

Linux Australia

LUGs

Linux Australia

www.linux.org.au

Non-profit association representing and supporting the local FOSS community

Linux Australia

Annual linux.conf.au

Grant Scheme

Mirror Project

Linux User Group Services

Software Freedom

Pragmatic Idealism!